Sapling Plantation Drive

Date: 16th & 17th January 2026

Mode: Online

Number of Participants:145

Description:

The Green Club organized a meaningful Sapling Plantation Drive to promote environmental responsibility and encourage students to contribute toward increasing green cover. As part of the activity, students planted saplings in their homes or nearby surroundings and documented their efforts by capturing geotagged photographs. These images were then uploaded to Google Drive, enabling systematic record-keeping and verification of participation. The initiative aimed to instill a sense of ownership and long-term commitment toward plant care while highlighting the importance of trees in maintaining ecological balance, improving air quality, and combating climate change. Through this hands-on experience, students developed awareness about biodiversity and sustainable living practices. The event also encouraged digital responsibility and active engagement beyond the classroom, as participants combined environmental action with technology-based reporting. Overall, the plantation drive successfully motivated students to take small yet impactful steps toward environmental conservation while fostering a greener and healthier community.

BROCHURE

The brochure cover features a vibrant illustration of two women in green shirts and brown aprons, kneeling on a grassy field. One woman is holding a sapling, while the other is planting it into a hole. The background shows rolling green hills and a blue sky with white clouds. The text is centered and includes the college's name, accreditation details, and the event title.
