

Editor's Note

Welcome to the first ever issue of NK News. This e-newsletter was conceptualized with just one aim in mind – to stay connected. Over the years Nagindas Khandwala Parivar has expanded, and while that is a phenomenon we all are happy to witness, we realise that work constraints can sometimes make it difficult to not only stay connected with each other but also to be aware of the numerous activities and achievements of our many members. NK News is meant to address this issue. On the fifth of every month, we will bring you the latest news about our College and feature different departments and staff members. We hope this brings us closer together and fosters a feeling of belonging. We hope you enjoy reading our first issue.
